“ Hazel was my first work buddy 20 years ago. I was blessed to have her in my life. I always respected her knowledge of her job and her amazing ways of dealing with people. I remember her talking about her parents and how she cared for them in their later years. She meant a lot to me as a true friend that I could turn to for advice. She was like a Grandmother to my Daughter and helped her through an extremely rough time in her life, her words of wisdom will stay with her forever. She always used to say if I was anywhere in this world and I heard someone say "Excuse Me" she would know it was me, it was a joke we shared together and had so much fun with. I'll miss you friend so much!

“ Hazel impacted my life tremendously. I did get the opportunity to tell her and thank her. She smiled and shrugged the compliments off like she always did. She gave me a hug and as always, acted very humble. As I type this it just reminds me of all the times she took the time to talk with me, share her values and her love. It saddens me that she is gone. She showed me so many things about being a good person. I was a pre-teen when I met her. She is the mother of one of my old friends. I will miss her, and she was truly a caring loving example of Christ. (If she heard me say that she would shake her head, laugh and reach out with her hand and touch my shoulder and say, "oh honey I don't know." God Bless Hazel. Love goes out to the family this week during this very difficult time.
